DISTRICT PROFILE

Located in Burlington, four of Halton District School Board's public high schools welcome international students in grades 9-12. All schools in the district are renowned for their excellent academics. Burlington Central High School offers a French Immersion program and accepts ESL students of any level. Aldershot High School offers an award-winning eco-studies major and can-fit training program. Along with a full ESL program, Thomas A. Blakelock offers a Specialist High Skills Major in Arts and Culture in three different subjects: Dance, Drama and Film, and Visual Arts.

FACILITIES

District campus facilities include a multitude of outdoor and indoor athletic fields, gymnasiums, and swimming pools. Classrooms have the latest technology, and most are equipped with computer and robotics labs. There are also libraries and music, drama, and art studios.

SPORTS AND ARTS

Halton District School Board's high schools have strong championship traditions in football, hockey, and volleyball, but all schools encourage students to join both team and individual sports. There's even a great selection of non-traditional activities like curling, ultimate frisbee, yoga, cycling, and skateboarding.

Along with art instruction, there are extracurricular activities and clubs to spark any student's interest, like the chess club, an award winning concert band, drama and theatre, the mural club, an improv team, and more.

AWARDS AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

In recent years, Fraser Institute Report has named T.A. Blakelock High School and Burlington Central High School top among the region's secondary schools.

COMMUNITY INFORMATION

Burlington and Oakville are lakeside cities situated halfway between Toronto and Niagara Falls along Lake Ontario. Students can easily reach downtown Toronto via a frequent commuter train. The cities are ranked among the safest and best places to live in Canada, striking a balance between an urban big-city lifestyle and the charm of small-town living.
