SCHOOL PROFILE

Sir John A. MacDonald Collegiate Institute's motto is "Prudentia et Scientia," a reflection of its commitment to providing students with a top-level education through AP courses, the Specialist High Skills Major (SHSM) program, and other academic opportunities. The "Medallion" academic program enables students to expand their studies in areas like English, Mathematics, and Science. Students are encouraged to participate in arts, athletics, and other extracurriculars, and there is also opportunity for students to engage in lunchtime intramural sports.

FACILITIES

Built in 1964, the school is located in the Scarborough district of Toronto. The school has a number of soccer pitches outside, as well as a running track that surrounds one of the fields.

SPORTS AND ARTS

SJAM athletic teams have won Toronto District Secondary School Athletic Association City Championships in a number of sports, including boy's soccer and girl's field hockey. The school has many arts offerings. Its music program is particularly strong, and includes options such as band, choir, and orchestra.

AWARDS AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The school's list of alumni includes a number of famous and accomplished individuals, including Duff Gibson, the 2006 Olympic gold medalist in men's singles skeleton, multiple National Hockey League (NHL) players, and comedian Mike Myers of Austin Powers and Shrek fame.
